CANDIDATES ON JUMP TEST COMES SATURDAY

Eve of Primaries Witnesses Hustling for Nominations.

WORKING ON SLATES

Democratic Bosses Busy Trying to Put Through Their Favorite Candidates Party Workers May Upset Part of Frame-Up.

Primaries, Saturday, September 30. Polls open from 2 o'clock to 8 o'clock, P. M.

The next seventy-two hours will determine who are to make the race for county offices on the Republican and Democratic tickets. The eve of the primaries finds the several scores of candidates hustling with redoubled energy to win. Any predictions at this time as to the probable winners on the Republican ticket would be mere speculation and guesswork. The field is open to all. Each Republican candidate has made a good, conscientious canvass and the result will hinge chiefly upon what impression each has made as he traveled over the county.

The Democratic candidates have been pretty well slated by the bosses, all others being ignored and put to considerable expense and without a fair and equal chance to win. The slate framed up by the Democratic leaders, and which they will put through unless the rank and file of the Democrats rebel on Saturday, includes A. B. Lee, of Potter township, for Sheriff; Frank Grebe, of Philipsburg, for Treasurer; D. R. Foreman, of Bellefonte, for Prothonotary; J. Kennedy Johnston, of Bellefonte, for District Attorney; William H. Noll, of Pleasant Gap, and D. A. Grove, of College township, for Commissioners; D. A. Dietrich, of Centre Hall, for Recorder; and J. Frank Smith, of Centre Hall, for Register.

The Democratic leaders are united in the slating of Lee for Sheriff; Johnston, for District Attorney, and Noll for County Commissioner. They are partly divided on the slating of the candidate for Treasurer. Grebe is the choice of a majority of the leaders, not that they believe he could possibly be elected but because they hope to secure from him a large campaign contribution to be used to help the rest of the ticket. Some of the Democratic leaders are opposing the slating of Grebe and urging the claims of Johnny Miller, of Walker township. Despite the arbitrary action of the leaders supporters of James Schofield claim that they will be able to smash both sections of the slate for Treasurer and land him a winner. They say that Schofield is the strongest man in the field for this place on the ticket.

In the last two or three days the Democratic leaders have issued final and positive orders that Dave Gingery, of Martha, must not be nominated for Sheriff. Their explanation for this is that he would be a weak candidate in November. In urging the candidacy of Dave Foreman for Prothonotary the leaders openly say that the candidacy of Ciny Hoffer, of Philipsburg, is a joke and that he would be a burden to the ticket if nominated.

Francis Speer may give the "Centre Democrat" faction leaders a jolt by capturing the nomination for Recorder. He is being quietly supported by the "Democratic Watchman" faction, although on the surface the latter are professing to be working for the nomination of Dietrich. The supporting of Speer by this faction is one of the amusing phases of the Democratic campaign, for Speer was one of the most ardent Keystone Democrats in Centre County last year.

The Democratic leaders are also divided upon the slating of a running-mate for Noll for County Commissioner. Some are working for Grove, while others are split up over William A. Stover, of Penn township, and John R. Lemon, of Ferguson township. They are apparently united upon one thing, which is to prevent Burdine Butler, of Howard, receiving a single vote outside of Howard township. Friends of Butler say that this is a pretty poor reward after his faithful party service.

John A. Woodward, of Howard, is leading the movement to push the candidacy of Paul Fortney, of Bellefonte, for the Democratic nomination for District Attorney. Kline Woodring, of Bellefonte, is hopeful that the division of the vote between Johnston and Fortney will enable him to slide into the nomination for District Attorney, while Squire John M. Keichline predicts that he will smash any slate fixed up by the bosses.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE CONVENES ON NOV. 13

Sessions Scheduled One Month Earlier Than Usual.

NOTED SPEAKERS HERE

County Superintendent David O. Etters Has Prepared Fine Program For The Entertainment and Instruction of Teachers.

The Centre County teachers' institute will be held this year during the week beginning with November 13, or just about one month earlier than has been the custom in recent years. The institute will be held in the Court House, in Bellefonte.

County Superintendent David O. Etters was in Bellefonte this week arraging some of the numerous details for the institute. He announces that the program will be interesting and instructive and that the speakers will include some of the best in the country. Superintendent Etters is endeavoring to schedule evening entertainments and lectures which will attract not only a full attendance of teachers but also appeal to the general public. He predicts that this year's institute will be in keeping with the high standard of recent years.

Second Week List Continued by Agreement—Minor Cases up.

September Sessions of Court convened on Monday morning at ten o'clock, and the forenoon session was taken up in hearing motions and petitions. The Grand Jury was called and sworn and A. N. Daugherty, farmer, of Burnside Township, selected as foreman. After taking the returns of the Constable of the various districts in the County, Milton G. Farwell indicted for betrayal, prosecutrix Lola May Hough. The defendent plead guilty and the usual sentence was imposed.

J. H. Weber vs. Jacob Herman, being an appeal. This case grows out of a controversy out of the hiring or use for a hay bailer belonging to the plaintiff, for the purpose of bailing some hay. The hiring being denied by the defendant, alleging that another had hired for bailing defendant's hay, and the plaintiff also claiming for some breakages on the bailer. Verdict on Tuesday afternoon in favor of the plaintiff for $25.

FIRST LIST OF NAMES ARE PRINTED TODAY

Republican's Big Automobile Contest Springs into Immediate Favor and Many Have Entered the Race.

As an incentive to the candidates in The Republican's Automobile contest, a special ballot good for 10,000 extra votes will be issued to every contestant who brings or sends to this office before 8:30 p. m. Wednesday, October 4, a yearly subscription to The Republican. Only one of these special ballots will be given each candidate.

They are off in a bunch! Are you one of them? The first list of nominations in The Republican's great automobile and prize contest is printed today. Look over the list and pick out a favorite, or better yet, if you are not a candidate, clip out the nomination ballot, fill it in and enter the race. The prizes are worth your while. Evidently the people of Bellefonte and vicinity think well of the candidates of this vicinity; at any rate there's no dearth of favorites, and the "one best bet" would be difficult to select.

THE BEST PEOPLE ENTERED.

Names of the contestants appearing today are those of the best families of Pennsylvania. Some were entered by themselves or their parents, while others have been nominated by their friends. All have the same opportunity to win one of the prizes. The winners will be the ones who hustle the hardest and do not overlook a chance to secure a subscription. Be a hustler, as it costs you nothing but a little effort. Your friends will help you if you ask them right away before some one else does. While it may seem like a big proposition to enter the race and win the auto it is not as the more candidates the better the show for the early hustlers.

From now on the contest will be on in earnest, and will increase in interest every day.

The contest manager will call on the contestants as soon as possible, but with such a large list of popular ones, it will take some time to see them all, so, if possible, call at this office and get one of the subscription books, also valuable information as to the best way to secure votes.

START EARLY.

While nominations will be coming in for a month yet, you had better get in at the start, be in with the early ones. Join this live bunch of hustlers and have the time of your life.

There will be lots of fun connected with the contest, and you don't want to miss any of it.

FOR INDIVIDUALS ONLY.

Owing to a unanimous demand that lodges and societies be eliminated from The Republican's Automobile Contest, The Republican has decided that the contest will be for individuals alone. The contention, which was just, was that individuals would be handicapped in working against an entire lodge or society, and in order that all have the same show for the prizes the lodges and societies will not be allowed to participate as such. Of course any member of any organization is free to enter the race for the auto and other prizes. Under this ruling the contest is therefore open to any woman, girl, man or boy in this section. All will have the same show to win the auto. Nominate yourself, get busy, win the car and in days to come you will never regret your action.

ALL MUST HUSTLE.

The contestants who enter in the city must not think it will be an easy matter to get ahead of the outside candidates. There are a bunch of live hustlers entered from the outside, and they are going to show the Bellefonte contestants a few things that will surprise them.

If you enter the contest with the determination to win, and we assume that you do, you should not waste much of your time with the free coupons. It's the subscriptions you want to hustle for. That is what gets you the most votes, and in this case it is votes that you want. Start out by asking for long time subscriptions as you will have a large number of contestants to compete with.

NOW IS YOUR TIME.

It will require a little time and energy to secure one of the prizes, but think of the fine reward if you enter today and win the handsome automobile.

STATE POLICE ON DUTY AT BIG COUNTY FAIR

Captain Groome Assigns Detail Here Next Week.

PREDICT FINE RACES

Management of Fair Promise Strong Attractions—Admission Free to Youngsters on "Big Wednesday"—Everything in Readiness.

Next week will be a fair week regardless of what the Weather Man at Washington has to say about it, and unless all signs go wrong the fair part of it will be a pleasing success. For it will witness the holding of the annual Centre County Fair and the management promises that the event will be bigger and better than ever. The fair will open up on Tuesday and will remain in full swing until Friday evening.

Captain John C. Groome, who is in command of the State constabulary, yesterday notified the fair management that he had assigned a detail of State police to attend the fair and remain on the grounds each day to preserve order. The practice of assigning members of the State police to county fairs has become quite general and has proved to be most satisfactory. The State police have had considerable experience in maintaining order and preventing trouble in crowds by promptly nabbing the offenders. Any person contemplating "rough-house" methods by way of a "good time" at the Centre County fair next week will do well to change his mind and thus avoid arrest.

While no definite announcement has been made, the fair management state that some of the best horses on the central section tracks will be on hand for the races and that the cards offered will be more interesting than during any other year.

The several exhibition buildings will teem with interest to the big crowd expected to be on hand. Harry Keller will be in charge of the main exhibition building. The fancy work department will be in charge of Mrs. W. R. Jenkins, and Mrs. Harry Yeager. Mrs. Harry Keller will look after the housewife's department, and Miss Mary G. Meek will be in charge of the children's department. The fruit and produce department will be in the hands of Samuel Decker and Oliver Witmer. Christ Decker will have general charge of the concessions and stock exhibit, and will be assisted by James Carson.

Wednesday will be "Children's Day." On this day all children will be admitted free. The general admission to the grounds for others will be 25 cents.

NANNY McCLAIN DEAD

Passed Away at Home at Clearfield After Brief Illness.

Profound sorrow was expressed in Bellefonte yesterday upon receipt of a message announcing the death during the day of Mrs. Harry Hinterleitner, at her late home at Clearfield. But little information was received other than that she had been ill for a few days, only. The deceased will be recalled as formerly Nancy McClain, the sweet faced daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McClain, who for years made their home in Bellefonte.

It was not until Monday that Bellefonte friends learned of Mrs. Hinterleitner's illness. On Tuesday Miss Mame Hamilton, one of her intimate friends, departed for Clearfield in response to a message telling of the grave nature of the illness. Early yesterday morning came the sad intelligence of her death. That it was sudden and entirely unexpected would be inferred from the fact that some members of the family did not arrive at Clearfield until last night.

Nancy Campbell McClain was born in August, 1879, and was the daughter of James McClain, now of Spangler. She was one of Bellefonte's brightest and most popular young girls at the time her father removed from here. Since that time she had married and, as stated, was residing at Clearfield at the time of her death. No information had been received here last night as to the funeral arrangements or the place of interment.

Died at Snow Shoe.

A. H. Holt, a well known citizen of Snow Shoe, died at his late home at that place on Wednesday of last week. Death was due to apoplexy. Funeral services were held at Snow Shoe on Saturday afternoon, and were held under the auspices of the Order of United American Mechanics, of which the deceased was an active and prominent member.

LITTLE BOY CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER LOG

Life Snuffed Out by Falling Railroad Tie While at Play.

NO MARKS ON BODY

Archie Woomer Aged 8 Years Victim of Distressing Accident Short Distance From Parents Home Near Brown Row.

A distressingly sad accident on Saturday evening of last week cost the life of 8-years-old Archie Woomer, the bright little son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Woomer, whose home is in the Brown Row, near the Lingle foundry shops. The little fellow, with several others, was playing about a pile of railroad ties, a short distance from his home, when one of them rolled over and fell upon his body. The boy was crushed to death, but strange to say the heavy log did not inflict so much as the slightest mark upon his body.

The child was too young to appreciate the danger and was innocently climbing upon the pile of ties when one of them slipped and rolled to the ground. The heavy log struck the child upon the chest, crushing out his life almost instantly. The accident came so suddenly that the Woomer child was killed before his playmates were fully able to understand what had happened.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, Rev. C. W. Winey, pastor of the United Brethren church, officiating. Interment was made in Meyers cemetery.

SIDNEY KIEFER INJURED

Automobile Lamp Explodes; Both Eyes Injured by Fire and Glass.

Sidney Kiefer, the popular superintendent in Bellefonte for the American Lime & Stone Company, met with a painful accident by the exploding of an automobile lamp. Both of his eyes were badly burned and also cut by pieces of glass. He was removed to the Bellefonte hospital where his injuries were dressed. The attending physicians are hopeful that both eyes may be saved, although the condition of one is very serious.

Mr. Kiefer had been working with the lamp a few minutes before it exploded. Supposedly something about it went wrong, for when he applied a lighted match there was a sharp report and instantly his face was enveloped in flame and pieces of glass. It was at first reported that both eyes had been destroyed, but when he had been removed to the hospital it was found that this was not the case. His numerous friends are hopeful that he will not only speedily recover but that he will have the sight of both eyes restored.

UNDER BURNING AUTO

Hamill Holmes, of State College, had Narrow Escape from Death.

Caught underneath his automobile, which turned turtle and then took fire, Hamill Holmes, of State College, had a narrow escape from death near Linden Hall on Friday night of last week. He was saved from being burned to death by the timely arrival of Lyman Smith and several others, who managed to lift the burning car and thus enabled Mr. Holmes to crawl out from his perilous position.

The accident happened as Mr. Holmes attempted to run his car past a buggy. His car struck the side of the road and turned upside down, pinning him underneath the heavy machine. Escaping gasoline resulted in an explosion and the automobile took fire. Pinned down as he was he could not have escaped had it not been for the immediate arrival of persons who happened to be nearby. Mr. Holmes fortunately was but slightly injured.

Hospital Notes.

Operations—Mrs. Mae McCoy, appendicitis; Mrs. Mary Strouse, Mrs. Rebecca Welch, all of Bellefonte, Walter Shay, of Howard, amputation of small toe injured by train.

Admitted for treatment—Sidney Kiefer, Bellefonte, both eyes burned; Mrs. Mary Leathers, Howard.

Discharged—Mrs. John Lyon, Mrs. Fred Davis, Bellefonte.

23 patients in the hospital.

A Great Advantage to Working Men.

J. A. Maple, 125, 7th St., Steubenville, O., says: For years I suffered from weak kidneys and a severe bladder trouble. I learned of Foley Kidney Pills and their wonderful cures so I began taking them and sure enough I had as good results as any I heard about. My backache left me and to one of my business, expressman, that alone is a great advantage. My kidneys acted free and normal, and that saved me a lot of misery. It is now a pleasure to work where it used to be a misery. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me and have my highest praise." Sold by C. M. Parrish.

Gumption on the Farm.

Scarcely any farmers in Congress, we don't like it.

There are few things in life more despicable than the man who blames it on his wife.

Looking at the sun through a whiskey glass shows the picture of the poorhouse and thin soup.

In these days of muck-raking, the farmer who is able to rake up a good compost heap stands to win.

Somebody has said that a dog with no teeth has a soft snap. We'd rather think that he has no snap at all.

Corn in the crib is just in the right spot, but is the spot right? Or will the rats get more than their share of it?

Most horses can hear well, and yet you would think from the sound of some men's voices when at work that the animals were deafer than posts.

Don't forget to save out corn for seed while you are husking it. Just because an ear of corn is large, does not necessarily make it the best for seed. See that the rows are straight from tip to butt, and that the kernels are all well formed and plump.

If potatoes are inclined to rot, don't be in a hurry to dig yours. Leave them in the ground as long as you can before digging. There will be far less waste. I have seen some lots of potatoes all go to mush after they had been left in the earth till cold weather came on, most of them might have been saved.

In the large producing sections cabbages are stored in specially prepared frostproof houses. But they are often stored in cellars, barns, or caves. Some growers store in pits and there is no better way to keep the heads crisp and fresh. The main thing is to keep out frost and provide for ventilation. Whatever the plan of storing, don't wait for freezing weather before harvesting.

Many a good man is in such haste to let the world know where he stands on the tariff, reciprocity, and the direct election of Senators, that his patient wife can not find out where he stands on the important domestic questions of water in the house and a new carpet for the parlor. Save the country, brethren; that's right but don't forget to save the wife, for after all what is the country to you when you have lost a good helpmeet?

Keeeping cabbages: Select a dry place in the patch, pull up the cabbages and stand them close together, headsdown. Cover with soil from five to ten inches deep, thinly at first so they will not heat, covering only enough to prevent freezing as the season advances. The burying beds may be made from four to six feet wide. A few cabbages for present use can be stored, heads down, in a barrel in the cellar; but the bulk of the crop should be left outdoors.

Storing vegetables. Onions: Store in a loft rather than in the cellar. In the latter they will sprout, to their injury. A few parsnips for winter use may be lifted and stored in sand in the cellar; but, as freezing sweetens them, it is best to leave many of them outdoors for later use. Potatoes: Store in bins one foot or eighteen inches deep, raised somewhat from the floor. Do not bruise or they will be likely to rot. Roots in the nature of salsify and horseradish, freezing does not hurt, so the main lot may stay out where grown; but some should be dug and put in earth in the cellar for winter use.—Farm Journal.

Most disfiguring skin eruptions scrofula, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters is a cleansing blood tonic. Makes you clear-eyed, clear-brained, clear-skinned.

The Wearing of Earrings.

The wearing of earrings has become a matter of such moment in the fashionable world that the ear itself has taken a foremost place in the array of beauty's adjuncts. Certainly none but the daintiest of ears can accomodate the pale moonlight of the lustrous pearl or the cold sparkle of the crystal diamond.

To place an exqisite setting of gems against a red and roughened ear is plainly calling attention to a beauty defect. Much better the omission of the sparkling gems than this flaunting of an imperfection otherwise easily hidden.

The charge that piercing the ears causes local inflammation is seldom true. The real cause is not so often carelessness on caring for the ear, scalp and hair. If the hole pierced in the ear becomes torn have the wound closed at once, as continued wearing of earrings stretches and enlarges the ear. The pierced hole is not necessary in these days of screw earrings, so that the closing of the hole need not mean the entire elimination of these charming jewels.

In selecting earrings try them on and look at them steadily from every angle. The long, dangling variety so enchanting on your friend of the Oriental face may not become you own pink and white beauty, adapted to the plain pearl spheres worn tight to the ears. Those queer gypsy rings of dull gold are all very well for the maid of dusky skin, midnight hair and velvet dark eyes, but the tiny pearls linked together with dainty wires of gold are more becoming to the girl with golden hair and eyes of dansy blue.

Its Not the Same Now.

The Teacher—When Cincinnatus left his plow standing in the furrow where did he go, and what did he do?

Little Harold—Went off and had a good time I s'pose.

The Teacher—Don't you remember, he went and raised an army, and saved his country?

Little Harold—Yes, I read that; but I thought that was just what he told his wife.

Pens, pen-holders, pencils, tablets and box papers—at Green's.

There Might Have Been.

Barnstormer—I hear a fire broke out at your theater last night?

Hamlet—Yes, and there would have been a terrible panic but for one thing.

Barnstormer What was that?

Hamlet—There were not enough people in the audience to make one.

CARING FOR APPLES

Valuable Suggestions for Picking, Grading and Shipping.

Centre County fruit growers are this week receiving from State Zoologist Surface, at Harrisburg, a timely article on how to pick, grade and pack apples so as to realize the greatest returns. With the time for picking apples near at hand, the article is a most timely one, and is as follows:

PICKING.

All fruit should be most carefully hand picked when fully grown, and red varieties well colored. Too early picking sacrifices high quality and color, and also the fruit spurs, while too late reduces the keeping qualities. The exact time of picking can be determined by the full development of the fruit, and an occasional specimen beginning to soften or show the yellow colors, or drop from the tree. In picking, the apple should be grasped in such a manner that the forefinger touches the stem, and then by a rolling and bending movement the apple will be unjointed at the fruit spur. Careless and hurried picking often destroys the fruit spur or pulls out the stem, breaking the skin at the basin and otherwise bruising it. Injured fruit will not keep so well, and its value is thus reduced.

GRADING.

To aid in assorting apples to uniform sizes for boxing, a sizing board with a row of holes will be helpful. These holes should be about $2\frac{3}{4}$ inches to $3\frac{3}{8}$ inches in diameter, representing the different sized apples that are put into boxes. The grader will soon become able to dispense with the sizing board except when in doubt. The apples are held up to the hole, but never dropped through. An ordinary table covered with a layer of canvass or soft cloth can be used on which to spread the apples in grading. Winter varieties can be assorted into four grades.

1st. The finest for boxes: This should consist of well colored and finest fruit of high quality varieties, free from blemishes, and of fine finish and uniform size.

2nd. First grade for barrels: Next sizes to box apples, free from blemishes and bruises, and of uniform size throughout the barrel.

3rd. Second grade for barrels: Second grade includes the smaller sizes of sound fruit free from blemishes.

4th. Culls: These include all the rest of the fruit, and usually should not be sent to market to complete with the better grades, but used for evaporating, canning and cider.

BOX PACKING.

The art of packing apples in boxes is not easily described in writing, but must be learned by teaching and practice. The object is to adapt the styles of arrangement of the apples according to size so that the box is filled, the fruit projecting slightly above the top of the box at the ends, and about an inch in the middle. When the ends are nailed the bulge in the middle is distributed between the top and bottom.

The standard apple box of the West is $10\frac{1}{2}$ x $11\frac{1}{2}$ x 18 inches; the California special box 10 x 11 x 20 inches, all inside measurement. The ends are made of boards $\frac{3}{4}$ inches thick, the sides $\frac{3}{8}$ inches, and the top and bottom $\frac{1}{4}$ inches. There are cleats on the ends of the tops and bottoms.

STYLES OF PACKING.

I. Four layers of 6 boxes of four apples each, 96 apples in the box.

II. Four layers of 8 rows of four apples each, 128 apples in the box.

III. Five layers of 7 rows of five apples each, 175 apples in the box.

IV. Five layers of 10 rows of five apples each, 250 apples in the box.

V. Three apples in the first row, two in the second, and three and two alternating to complete the tier. The second tier starts with two apples in the first row, placed in the intervals of the three of the bottom row, three in the second, etc. The third tier is like the first. 213 apples in the box.

VI. In this style of packing three apples in each row alternate with the adjoining row. Each tier alternates with the tier below, so that the apples in the third tier are directly above those of the first, and those of the fourth tier above the second. 72 apples fill the box.

BARREL PACKING.

The standard American barrel contains three bushels, and measures $17\frac{1}{4}$ inches across the ends, $23\frac{1}{2}$ inches across the center, and has staves $28\frac{1}{2}$ inches long. Second hand sugar barrels and smaller or "snide barrels" shall not be used.

Take out the bottom head, and stand the barrel with top head down so as to pack the top end first. A corrugated paper or some other cushion to protect the head layer should be laid in position, and on this placed a fancy paper cap. Pack the layer of "facers" stem ends down in circular rows, fitting tightly together. A second layer of apples of the same kinds is similarly placed in the depressions of the first. The facers are the same grade as the rest of the apples in the barrel, but are of the best colored. Over the facers pour gently a half bushel of apples at a time, shaking the barrel to settle the fruit. Fill the barrel to just above the ends of the staves, facing the top layer stem ends up, covering with a padded head to prevent crushing. Press down and drive the hoops into place and nail the head in.

WAVERLY

The Crops.

Bradstreet's Report says:—September weather has been favorable to the corn crop, except in parts of the north and east, where frosts have done some little damage. The plant in the west has all the moisture needed to mature the crop, and warm, dry weather is now the one thing desired. The crop prospect, so far as ultimate yield is concerned, is rather better than three weeks ago. Late potatoes in the west have been helped by weather, and the shortage from a year ago is not as large as earlier indicated. Better weather in the northwest has favored the resumption of threshing and favored a freer movement. Grades have undoubtedly been lowered in the northwest and in Canada by frosts and rain. Cotton reports are not greatly changed, but reports of great deterioration are hardly borne out by free selling by the south on this week's heavy decline.

Wash That Itch Away.

It is said that there are certain springs in Europe that give relief and cure to Eczema and other skin diseases. If you knew that by washing in these waters you could be relieved from that awful itch, wouldn't you make every effort to take a trip to Europe at once? Would not be willing to spend your last cent to find the cure?

But you need not leave home for these distant springs. Relief is right here in your own home town!

A simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients as compounded only in D. D. D. Prescription will bring instant relief to that terrible burning itch, and leave the skin as smooth and healthy as that of a child.

If you have not already tried it, get at least a 25 cent bottle today. We assure you of instant relief.

Proposed amendments to the Constitution submitted to the citizens of this Commonwealth for their approval or rejection, by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

TO OUR FRIENDS.

The management of "The Republican" desires to say a word or two in regard to the automobile contest which is more fully explained in other parts of the paper. The purpose of this contest is to place "The Republican" in as many homes as possible, thus increasing its usefulness in the community. Our aim is to establish a friendly rivalry to secure new subscribers, the automobile and other prizes being offered as a reward for the winners. In the very infancy of this contest we want to state, and with all emphasis, that open and above-board, absolutely fair and square methods, and such methods only, will be employed. We stake the reputation of "The Republican" on the promise that each and every person participating in the contest will be accorded a square deal. We are conscious of the fact that some contests have been so conducted that contestants were not accorded the treatment they deserved. The highest single subscription that will be accepted, now or at any time in the contest, will be for ten years. This pledge on our part to the several contestants is irrevocable.

THEIR FINAL REQUEST

Women Urge Nomination of Mrs. Brouse and Mrs. Gilmour on Saturday.

Representatives of the movement organized to secure the nomination of Mrs. Charles E. Gilmour and Mrs. Roger S. Brouse for the two 2-years terms as school directors, on both Republican and Democratic tickets, yesterday issued their final appeal to the voters of Bellefonte for support at the primaries on Saturday, next. This appeal was drafted in the form of an argument why women should be represented on the Board of School Directors. The appeal follows:

To the Voters of Bellefonte:—

When you go to the primaries next Saturday it may be well to ponder over the following facts.

The assessed valuation of all the real estate of Bellefonte Borough for 1911 is $1,515,585.00. Of that amount there is assessed in the names of women, $497,465.00, or nearly one-third of the total.

There are to be nominated and elected this fall ward and borough officers, as follows:

Officers.	Term of years	Equivalent to one person
3 Judges of Election,	2	6 yrs.
6 Inspectors,	2	12 "
3 Constables,	4	12 "
3 Councilmen,	4	12 "
2 Overseers of Poor,	4	8 "
1 Auditor,	4	4 "
1 Auditor,	2	2 "
1 School Director,	6	6 "
2 School Directors,	4	8 "
1 High Constable,	2	2 "
This is equivalent to one person in office		76 years

The women of the town are asking for two members of the school board for two years, which is equivalent to one office for four years,—just one-nineteenth of the offices to be filled this fall.

Would it not be manly, to say nothing of justice and right, for us to concede one-nineteenth of the offices to the women who pay one-third of the taxes. The women of Bellefonte and of every other community are just as vitally interested in the welfare of the people as are the men. Their interests are mutual. Experience has shown, too, that in money matters women, taken as a whole, are the more careful and make a dollar go the farthest.

Women, too, devote more time, thought and effort than men to the upbuilding of the moral and religious side of life as witness the church and prayer meeting attendance. Going to school nowadays is strenuous business for the boys and girls and many, many pupils owe their good marks to their ever willing mothers whose help and sympathy and vigilance held them to their studies after school hours.

For these and other good reasons the writer firmly believes we would do well to heed the request of the women of Bellefonte and nominate and elect without opposition Mrs. Brouse and Mrs. Gilmour, both property owners and both sensible, intelligent women of good judgment.

THE CONTEST NOW ON.

It is not so bad to secure a prize just by asking your friends to subscribe to The Republican in your favor. The votes will put you at the head of the list if you neglect none of your opportunities, but appeal to each one who may take an interest in your success. Many are ready to renew their subscriptions at this time, and would gladly give you the benefit of their help for the mere asking.

For your own sake it is best that from the very start you should be known to be in the race. Those who would rather help you than any one will give their subscription to the first candidate who approached them if they did not know that you were interested in winning a prize. You want all acquaintances to realize from the first that you mean to win and that you count on them to help you do to so.

Many Inquiries.

Every day there are a great number of people who inquire at the Republican office as to who is going to be active in the campaign. They do not want to give their support to some one who will not remain in the race. So it is up to you candidates, convince your friends that you are in to win, the support is yours for the asking. The public is interested and will watch the vote list closely each week to see how their favorite candidate is progressing. Do not disappoint your friends who had confidence enough in you to place your name in the list of candidates, as well as taking the trouble to clip the vote coupons for you. Get busy while the race is yet young.

Prizes are Valuable.

Anyone in Bellefonte or vicinity knows all about the automobile which will be the grand prize in the contest. The Ford car has a reputation of its own and the car we will give away is a 1912 model. It will make a most acceptable prize when it is taken into consideration that it can be secured absolutely free of cost, the only consideration being a little work.

There will be six district prizes—3 diamond rings and 3 gold watches. These prizes are of the best and well worth winning. A ring and watch will be given in each of the three districts regardless of who wins the automobile.

Send a Letter to all Your Friends.

Contestants should send a letter to all their friends wherever they live requesting them to help by paying a subscription to The Republican. Nearly every one in the contest has friends in distant cities who formerly lived in Bellefonte and vicinity and are interested in the happenings of this community. Send them a letter. The contest manager has some imitation typewritten letters prepared, which contestants may have by applying at the contest department. Call and get a bunch.

Many Have Entered.

The fact that a large number of candidates have already entered the race should not frighten you. Simply because, the more candidates there are in the fight, the better the chance you have of winning. It will require less effort on your part to secure a sufficient number of votes if you have a large number of candidates to compete with.

Division of Districts.

The division of the districts in the contest is such that it will assure the same number of prizes being awarded in each district. The Ford automobile that will be given as first grand prize will be awarded to the candidate who polls the highest number of votes in the entire contest. The other prizes will be awarded to the candidates having the highest number of votes in their respective districts. This assures two candidates in each of the three districts winning one of the handsome prizes.

The Public Surprised.

It took the general public some days to realize that the Republican was really going to give away all the magnificent prizes promised. Such a list of prizes as those now offered has never before been offered the public, for a few short weeks of work. Now that they realize the beauty and value of them, they are commencing to go after them in earnest. The winners will be those who do not allow an opportunity to secure a subscription go by. "To the victor belongs the spoils" and the victors will be those who get in early and secure every possible subscription. No possible prospect should be overlooked by a candidate.

Keep Your Friends in Mind.

Do not forget any of your friends. There are plenty of them, and there is a chance that you might forget some until it is too late. It is a good plan to make a list of all those who you think may help you, and when a fresh name occurs to you, jot it down on this list so that no opportunity may be lost.

Subscribers will Help.

A number of persons have told us that they are willing to subscribe for The Republican, but that they desire to wait until someone from their section enters before handing in the subscriptions. Here is an opportunity for candidates all over the territory of the contest. This shows that there are votes to be had, not only for the asking, but simply by sending in their names. These votes will come not from friends only, but from strangers as well who want someone to win a prize.

Persons living at a distance from Bellefonte need not hesitate to send in the subscriptions secured by them, as the votes will be mailed to the contestant for whom they are intended, or else to the subscriber, whichever is desired. Those living at a distance will receive the same attention, and their interests will be carefully looked after as those of the contestants living within a stone's throw of The Republican office.

The Voting Rules.

During the first three weeks of the contest ending Saturday, Oct. 14, no candidate will be permitted to vote more than 2,000 votes a week more than the highest candidate had in the previous weeks publication.

After October 14 the limit will be raised 3,000 each week until two weeks before the end at which time the limit will be raised altogether and candidates may vote as they choose during the last two weeks.

10,000 Extra Votes.

Every candidate who brings or sends to this office before 8:30 Wednesday, October 4, a subscription for one year to The Republican will be entitled to the special ballot which counts 10,000 votes additional to the regular scale of votes covering the subscription.

Candidates residing outside of the city or those who cannot get into the office may mail their subscriptions any time before 8.30 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 4.

Only one of these 10,000 ballots will be given to each candidate. Make frequent reports with your subscriptions as it will aid the contest manager considerably.

The Way to Get Votes.

There are only three ways of getting votes in this contest—one way is by saving the free vote coupons which are printed in every issue. The second by securing paid in advance subscriptions and the third by payment on arrearages.

Another positive assurance you have is that votes cannot be bought. The only money which will be accepted in connection with the contest will be that sent to pay for subscriptions.

Subscribers, this is your opportunity to do a kindness for some of your friends.

You will be doing yourself a good turn at the same time. If you are an old subscriber you will save yourself the trouble of paying at the office. If you take the paper now you will be giving yourself a pleasure hitherto unknown.

It is a satisfaction to feel that the paper you read each week is reliable. It is a pleasure to read the bright, broad news and the clean, conservative columns of a newspaper like The Republican, which is as well fitted to the man of affairs as it is to the home, combining as it does, and as few papers do, the element of state-wide information, detailed local news, reliable market reports, and a stand never abandoned for the best interests of the vicinity.

Defining a New Subscription.

The term "New subscription" is meant new and nothing more. If a paper is now going into a home and the name is changed to some other member of the household that cannot be termed as a new subscription. It must be new in the strict sense of the word in order to grant votes under the new subscription schedule.

Opening Evenings.

For the accommodation of those who wish to enter the contest or to gain information respecting it, and who cannot call during the day, the Contest Department in The Republican office will be kept open until 8:00 p. m. If you are unable to call at any time, write or phone the contest manager and a representative will call and give you the desired information.

Things You Should Know.

Votes are allowed on both old and new subscribers who pay in advance and to those paying arrearages.

Address all subscriptions, inquiries, etc., to Manager Contest Department, The Republican.

If you are interested, call and see the contest manager and get acquainted, or telephone.

No extra papers will be printed for sale of coupons therein.

If you have any complaints to make kindly send same to the Contest Manager, The Republican office. We want everybody satisfied.

Do not be misled or discouraged in securing votes by fakirs or fraudulent promises.

Above all, pay no attention to rumors. They are usually circulated by your competitors, or their friends, for the purpose of discouraging you.

Once entered, do not drop out. What if some one should be a few votes ahead today? You put some sand on the track and pass them tomorrow.

The contest will end Saturday, November 18, at 9 p. m.

Messrs Weber and Thomas are two of our ambitious and energetic young men and will doubtless make a success of their venture in the iron manufacturing business.

Politics has awakened more than usual interest here this fall. Candidates for the several county offices came to town so thick and fast last week that our citizens were almost constrained to place an embargo on them. However it is only a few days until the elimination contest and voters are busily engaged studying the long list of candidates in order to select the "best bets." Objection to the ballot form of nominating candidates for borough and township offices is heard from many sources most of our citizens preferring the old style caucus for such nominations. This objection can be met and in many places was avoided by selecting candidates in the old way and having the names of the candinates filed with the commissioners for insertion on the regular ballot.

Last Thursday noon a sad accident befell Walter Shay, the eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shay. The family lives in one of Dr. O. W. McEntire's houses near the railroad and after dinner Walter, in company with some other children, started for school. A freight train was passing slowly at the time and it is thought that he attempted to cross the train when he fell under and had his left foot badly crushed. No one saw him at the time and it is not known just how the accident happened. After the lad was found by Mr. Buckley, one of the operators at the telegraph tower, his injured foot was quickly dressed and Mr. Buckley took him to the Bellefonte hospital on the noon train. It was found necessary to remove several of his toes and part of the foot. The boy is getting along as well as could be expected.

Some of the gossips who spend all of their time on the stoop in the diamond of the town might well be home and employing themselves more profitably. They might take to heart this motto:

O, be not the first to discover
A flaw in the fame of a friend;
A fault in the faith of a brother,
Whose heart may be true to the end.

D. E. Fisher and son have started to pick their apples. They have between 800 and 1000 bushels in the fruit house now. A very good crop is expected this year. All prospects are for about 7000 bushels.

On last Sunday night about 1 o'clock, thieves broke into the house of G. W. Morrison. Mr. Morrison's son-in-law, Thomas McClellan, happened to be at home on that night and left his coat hanging in the hall. He was awakened by the barking of the dog and getting up he made a search which showed the back door and also a back window to be open, explainiug how the thieves had effected an entrance. Once inside the house the thieves piled chairs against all doors leading upstairs, this being to prevent members of the family from coming down. Almost a box of burned matches were scattered on the floor. Mr. McClellan examined his coat and found that his annual railroad pass and also his 100-trip ticket between here and Altoona, also a $2 bill, had been stolen. Apparently the robbers were frightened off for nothing else of value was taken. That they were desperate creatures was indicated by a large club which was found lying in the hallway. With characters of this kind prowling about the neighborhood it might be a good thing for our citizens to sleep with one eye open.

Candidate Sprains Ankle.

Josiah Pritchard, of Philipsburg, one of the several Republican aspirants for nomination for County Treasurer, was in town this week campaigning among visitors here attending court. On Tuesday evening Mr. Pritchard, while walking along East Linn Street, stepped upon a small stone and badly wrenched one of his ankles. VETERAN'S CELEBRATION

Delightful Reunion at Home of John T. Lucas, at Moshannon.

What proved to be a most delightful time for all present was the celebration on Saturday, last, of the fiftieth anniversary of the enlistment in the Union army of John Toner Lucas, of Moshannon. The happy event was celebrated at the beautiful Lucas home, at Moshannon, and was participated in by quite a few of the colleagues of Mr. Lucas in his old regiment, the famous old Forty-fifth, Penna. Vols. Mr. Lucas enlisted in Company D, of the Forty-fifth, served with distinction and is justly proud of the Stars and Stripes.

A sumptuous dinner was served by Mrs. Lucas and her accomplished daughters under the tall maples at the Lucas home. Promptly at noon Captain C. T Fryberger, of Philipsburg, called attention to the feast and Captain W. H. Fry, of Pine Grove Mills, led the attack on the tables. Squire W. H. Musser, of Bellefonte, wasn't very far behind and gave the attack his very best support. Before the dinner was served there was a pretty incident that deeply affected all present, especially the gallant old soldiers. This was the delivering by one of Mr. Lucas' daughters, Sadie, of a recitation entitled: "My father was a soldier." A choir sang patriotic selections. Another interesting incident was the eating by Mr. Lucas of an ear of corn, significantly recalling the days when Company D was besieged at Knoxville and he and his brave comrades had nothing but corn to eat for many long, dreary weeks. There were some witty after-dinner speeches, Captain Frybergger proving himself a second Chauncey Depew.

During the afternoon the guests and visitors enjoyed the time by looking over some interesting war relics, one being a combination knife, fork and spoon which Mr. Lucas carried with him on the battle field.

Had the delightful function been held two days earlier it would have also celebrated Mr. Lucas' 69th birthday anniversary. That he has lost none of his old-time vigor was demonstrated by the active part he took in Saturday's festivities.

Mr. Lucas saw four years ofactive service daring the Civil war. He participated in many hard-fought skirmishes, his regiment having figured in thirty-one battles and also traveled over 30,000 miles. The besieging of the regiment at Knoxville was an experience that tried the courage of the strongest men. They were without food and clothing and their shoes were made from raw-hide. Finally Sherman came across from Ohio and lifted the siege. Company D was raised in Bald Eagle valley and its members were representatives of many of the best families in that section. Company D was commanded by Captain Austin Curtin, while Company A was under Captain John I. Curtin.

The old comrades present to enjoy the pleasures of the day were Captain Fryberger, of Philipsburg; Sergeant William H. Musser, of Bellefonte; William P. Mahaffey, of Clearfield; Michael C. Jobson, of Mill Hall; James I. Yarnell, of Snow Shoe; George W. Loner, of Stormstown, and William H. Fry, of Pine Grove Mills, all of whom were members of the famous "45th." Those present of other regiments were: John A. Yeager, of Elton; Christopher Cook, of Pine Glen; William A. Jacobs and Mathias Mayes, of Clarence; George Fravel, John Gunsallus and Hezekiah Dixon, of Snow Shoe; Edward Shannon and Israel Hoover, of Moshannon.

Parent-Teachers Association.

The first meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held on Tuesday evening, October 3, in the New High School Building. Rev. Dr. Ezra H. Yocum will give a talk on "Learning to Read, by a Learner." Persons who have heard this talk say it is a most excellent one. Russell Blair will sing a solo and will be accompanied by Miss Mary Bradley. The "question box," that proved so interesting and beneficial last year, will be continued. All are cordially invited. Parents are especially urged to be present and participate in the meetings and thus bring the home and the school more closely together. Some good things are promised for the early winter meetings. The State Health Department, at Harrisburg, has promised to give its "tuberculosis exhibit" at an early date. At the December meeting Mrs. Pond, of State College, wife of Professor George G. Pond, has very kindly consented to talk on "juvenile literature." Mrs. Pond has made almost a life-study of this subject and it will be a great treat for our people to hear her.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS

Big Convention to be Held in New Castle, October 11, 12 & 13.

Great interest is being manifested among Sunday School workers in in every County in the State in lieu of the great Sunday School Convention called to meet in the city of New Castle, October 11th, 12th, & 13th.

The two greatest business men in the world Mr. John Wanamaker, the "Merchant Prince", and H. J. Heinz, the "Manufacturing Prince," are both officers of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association and are back of the great forward movement that will greatly stimulate Sunday School work in every part of the State.

Every County will send its quota of delegates to the New Castle Convention. The program promises many unique features.

A session recognizing the tercentenary of the English Bible will be held Wednesday, October 11th. A Great Organized Adult Class Exchange and demonstration, with ten thousand (10,000) men in line will be held Thursday, Oct. 12th. A Pastors Congress and a Superintendents Congress will be held on Friday, October 13th.

Hon. R. P. Hobson, of Santiago fame, will make the principal address on the day of the O. A. B. C. demonstration. Hon. John Wanamaker and other speakers of national and international note will take part on the program.

A great exhibit of Sunday School supplies and literature will also be a feature of the Convention. New Castle is planning to take care of five thousand (5000) delegates.

Sunday School workers from Centre County desiring to attend the convention can secure delegates credentials from L. W. Nuttall, Philipsburg, Pa., the corresponding Secretary for this county.

How to Gain in Weight.

In the October Woman's Home Companion Dr. Jean Williams, writing her regular "Doctor's Page," tells how thin people can gain weight. She says, in part:

"Cream, butter and olive-oil are all highly valuable and, as a rule, one or more—sometimes all—may be liberally used. If well tolerated, they may be taken as follows: Butter thickly spread on bread, at each meal, or used in gravies, sauces, on hot cakes, toast, etc., in which form it is less easily digested. Cream is best taken on cereals and in the form of rich milk. When used whipped, with sugar and flavoring on rice desserts, it is difficult to digest, or, rather, the combination is. Olive-oil may be taken directly after each meal, or one hour after. Beginning with one teaspoonful, the amount may be gradually increased to one tablespoonful after each meal. In addition to this, it may be freely used on salads.

"Cereals, bread, potatoes, etc., are possibly the most valuable we have as fleshmakers, and they may be taken, unlike fats and sugar, in generous quantities. Fats and sugars are so highly concentrated that a comparatively small bulk furnishes many units of heat and energy, and the body chemistry is soon disordered by more than can be conveniently handled. Remember, it is not the quantity we eat that gives results in energy and flesh, but the amount that is assimilated. Too much unassimilated food heavily taxes the eliminative organs, thus producing a condition that helps to defeat our object."

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profamity won't cure them. Doan's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

October 27 Arbor Day.

Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, has proclaimed Friday, October 27, as the autumn arbor day and calls upon teacher and pupils in public and private schools to observe the day by planting trees and other appropriate exercises. In his proclamation Dr. Schaeffer says:

"Not only in Pennsylvania, but also in other states, has it become customary to observe arbor day both in the spring and in the fall of the year. This laudable custom should be perpetuated by the annual planting of trees, vines and shrubbery on the school grounds, along our highways, in public parks and wherever there is need of shade and beauty. The most permanent ornaments are shade trees; the most valuable are fruit trees; the most useful and enduring are the forest trees; and a most unselfish act on the part of an aged or middle aged man is the planting of trees whose shade, fruit and beauty others will live to enjoy.

"The habits which are formed and fostered in youth abide through life. The young should be taught to appreciate what nature, under the guidance of art, has done for men, and they should learn to take through for the welfare of those who will live after them. The habit of planting trees, of caring for them and of thus providing for the future needs of the community is strengthened by the double observance of arbor day each year both at home and school."

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's Regulets will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without griping. Ask your druggist for them. 25 cents.

Mr. Taft on Trusts.

President Taft'e Detroit address on "Trusts," with especial reference to the recent Supreme Court decisions in the Standard Oil and American Tobacco cases, is one of the most luminous and convincing analyses of the situation in this country touching anti-trust legislation that has yet been presented, says the Pittsburg Gazette-Times. Its effect is likely to be two-fold. It will impress the public with the integrity and efficacy of the Sherman law and it will help to disabuse the minds of students of the question of the idea on the one hand that the court went too far and on the other that it did not go far enough.

The President is confident that the act of 1890 is sufficiently stringent and specific to cover all contracts in restraint of trade, "made for the purpose of excluding competition, controlling prices, or of maintaining a monopoly." That being so, he is "entirely opposed to an amendment" of the existing law. He explains that this bill never was intended to apply to combinations in which there was an incidental restraint of trade, like that which follows the purchase by one man of the business of a competitor, along with good will, upon an agreement that the vender shall not re-engage in the same traffic in the same territory within a stated period. Therefore he has no patience with the view of objectors to this statute that its strict renderding is to outlaw all combinations doing an interstate business if their constituent parts were previously competitors. So assured is he of the scope of the act that he challenges any lawyer or legislator who now complains that it is ineffective to frame up an imaginary case in which there is deliberate restraint of trade that will not fall within its purview, or any other case in which the elements of monopolistic control are lacking that will not be immune from its inhibitions.

Mr. Taft is not alone positive of the competency of the Sherman law to meet every contingency, but he is unreservedly cordial in his approval of the Supreme Court's interpretation of it Every American, he believes, should be "proud that we have such a tribunal." He resents the attitude of those who read into the court's opinion the qualifying word "reasonable," as referring to restraint of trade, and insists rather that it is a "reasonable" construction of the provisions of the act which has been applied, so that the conclusion may not be absurd and the consequences to business may not be disastrous. Others have endeavored to assert this, and to cultivate the belief that "big business" legitimately conducted need have no apprehensions. while small business will have a better competitive field than before, but all business just now is so sensitive that not much progress has been made.

Bill—How so?
Jill—Why, I backed out of his presence.

Moulding a Character.

Character is a combination of one's intellectual qualities, disposition, tendencies, aptitutes, desires, aversions and habits. It is "those established and fixed tendencies that are so strong as to give direction to conduct." We all admire good character. What higher praise is there than this? "She is a girl of high ideals. He is a man of good principles." These expressions are really only other words for "fine character."

We must distinguish between character and reputation. Character is what we are; it is within ourselves. Reputation is what others think we are; it is within the minds of others. Both may be equally good, or the reputation, which is gained by words and acts, may be higher than the character warrants. Character is built up from thoughts, and sometimes, though the words and acts appear good, the motives prompting them do not reach the highest moral standards, because the thought-world is not thoroughly good and pure. Hence we see that character is higher and more noble than reputation. It is good character that should be aimed for, and the good reputation will doubtless follow.

We inherit a nature but we acquire a character. Character is largely a personal creation; it is made, developed, cultivated; it is what the individual chooses to make it. We all wish our children to possess good characters. It is our most sacred duty to assist the child in laying the foundation of a noble character, during the years when he is too young to understand the importance of it. Character should be the supreme end of all school work and of all home training.

If we would have orchards bear good fruit we must plant the trees carefully in good soil and prune and care for them continually. The young, tender twigs are easily bent and given direction. Children are like young trees. Youth is the time to mould their characters. We cannot begin too early with them, for character is of slow growth. Horace Mann says, "For character building the first twelve years of the child's life are worth all the rest. If the work of these years is not what it should be, all subsequent teaching is of the nature of reformation rather than education.

Personal Power—In building up good characters in our children the first requisite is a definite aim. We must see clearly what we wish to accomplish, and then by patience and perseverance strive to attain the desired result. We must have high ideals ourselves and instil them in our children. We must think of the future continually. We must never lose sight of the ideal man or the ideal woman into which we wish to mould the little child.

Inherited tendencies and environment influence character somewhat, but there is a personal power, a creating force, capable of overcoming these. It is this power which we must try to develop in the child, so that in spite of any inherited weaknesses from past generations and in spite of any sort of poor environment which may be his lot in the unknown future, the child may grow so strong morally that he can overcome these and band up an ideal character under any conditions.

Aspiration has led all great men to accomplish wonderful achievement., Lincoln, Garfield, Greely, Edison, all had high aspirations and great determination and will power, or they would never have overcome obstacles and adverse circumstances and succeeded in rising from poverty to become great powers for good in the world. We must use every effort to create and foster in our children high aspiration and strong will power in carrying them out.

Quoted writer says, "Sow an act and you reap a habit. Sow a habit and you reap a character. Sow a character and you reap a destiny." If we prize character highly, we must look well to the habits of our children, since habits are the threads out of which character is woven. Habits determine what we are. They are the result of repetition; they are early formed and seldom broken. Let us aim to form only good ones in our children. Habits are dependent upon the will. We should assist our children in acquiring such complete self mastery as will enable them to form good habits and cling to them throughout life.

Early Habits—We must teach them by example and precept to be thoroughly honest, not only in deeds but also in thoughts, not only with others but also with themselves. We must teach them to be truthful to the very letter, to be above petty influence, and just in all their dealings; to be courteous, true spirit of kindness, to have wide sympathies; to be faithful in all things, to be patient and persevering, to be prompt and accurate.

We must instill in them the important habit of industry, for there are great hopes for the boy and girl who has learned to work cheerfully and well. It has been said that the victory of success is half won when one gains the habit of work. We must teach the young to be economical in spending the fruits of their labor. We should teach them to be independent, self-reliant, ready for any emergency and strong in the power to resist evil and to stand for the right. All these and other good habits are best taught in an indirect way.

Education enriches character in every way. It develops the faculties of the mind, strengthens and directs the will, quickens the finer sensibilities of the soul and thus makes a youth master of himself and enables him to become a power for good among his fellow men. Every opportunity should be given the child for acquiring the best possible education and thus forming good habits which will aid in building up and broadening his character.

All parents should strive to do their best in this matter of moulding the character of their children, so that when the child arrives at years of discretion and the task of completing the character building is handed over to him, he may not be obliged to undo any poor work or conquer any acquired bad habits, but continue to mould his character toward that high ideal which from early childhood has ever been pointed out to him as his goal.

Skirt and Sleeves.

There is no point that dressmakers are so anxious to cover at the beginning of a season as that of new styles in skirts and sleeves. Questions of trimming may be left more or less to the individuality of the customer or to her particular requirements. Colors and materials are furnished by the wholesale houses, but the hang of the skirt and the cut of the sleeves must come from some authority that is unquestionably respected.

There are rumors now that skirts are fuller, but it is misleading to lay too much strees on this fact, for they are merely comparatively fuller. If one forgets the hobble skirt there is little added width in the new skirts. Most of the new models measure two yards and a half around the bottom. The bell skirt has been tried out this season, and with its straight, tight hip lines and slight flare at the bottom, it is very good style. Yet from the dressmakers' viewpoint there is a decided difference in the cut of skirts. Any suggestion of pulling in about the knees or below this point is quite done away with.

Now about sleeves. A number of the new ones are set in with seams, but the seams are always covered with some kind of shoulder trimming.

The peasant sleeve is receiving many modifications and is much smaller than it has been. It is now quite possible to make this sleeve rather narrow and with a high under arm effect.

Sleeves seem less wide and conspicuous than they were, but this may only be by comparison with the waists, which contain more fullness than has been the case. The three-quarter length sleeve seems to be coming into favor and is often made up of several parts and of several fabrics—a straight, loose top, an undersleeve and a puff.

FROM THE TROPICS TO HEAL US.

Cedron Seed Plant.

In Central America many natives are gathering the seeds of this plant, Cedron Seed, a rare medicine that has valuable curative powers. But few drug stores carry this seed, owing to the high cost of the article.

This country is a large consumer of this costly seed because it enters into the famous catarrh remedy, Peruna, sold the world over.

Feminine Fancies.

Blue in color will lead for the coming season, while tans and champagnes are gaining in favor, and gray is excellent.

The skirts of the three-piece costumes are made with one of the long tunic effects, with either a real or simulated underskirt of another material or of the same material in a contrasting color.

Dancing frocks of chiffon, marquisette and lace are made with straight-line skirts, showing a succession of puffings or ruffles at the bottom, with soft fichus or surplice draperies trimmed to match. They are made over thin China silk or Brussels net linings.

To launder a cotton crepe waist soak for an hour in lukewarm soapsuds, using any good soap. Then wash carefully, so as not to stretch. Shake well and pull lengthwise. Hang on a coat hanger and put in the sun to dry. This helps to keep the shape across the shoulders. It is best to cover the coat hanger with a Turkish towel or clean cloth. It is also a good plan to tack a piece of tape from the neck of the armhole. When laundered in this manner, crepe waists will retain both their appearance and their shape.

A Tempting Invitation.

The W. C. T. U., of Blanchard, will hold a "birthday party" in the school house, at Blanchard, on Tuesday evening, October 3, and the invitation extended the public to attend is so cordial and tempting that the attendance will no doubt be just as large as would be the case where each one attends his or her "own birthday party." The invitations consist of a neatly printed card, attached to which is a little hand-made bag. If you are in doubt as to what the bag is for, read what is printed on the card, which is as follows:

This "Birthday Party" is given to you;
'Tis something novel, 'tis something new.
We send you each a little sack,
Please either send or bring it back
With as many cents as years you are old;
We promise the number shall never be told.
Kind friends will give you something to eat,
And others will furnish a musical treat.
The Social Com. with greetings most hearty
Feel sure you'll attend
"Your own Birthday Party."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THINK THIS OVER

You say you can make more from your surplus than a life insurance policy will make for you.

How much comfort of mind will your "increased earnings" bring you when you are ill and face the question of your family's needs?

Mental worry and illness combined speeds death.

Mental ease contributes to longevity.

A Royal Union policy is the greatest balm in the world for that feeling of uncertainty about your family's future if you are no longer here to provide for them, and for the time when age will impair your activity. No policy is better secured or yields a better return to its holder than the ones issued by the Royal Union.
